THE APRIL BLIZZARD.

Work of the Storm in This and Adjoining States.

FOURTEEN SEAMEN ARE DROWNED

Two Schooners Wrecked on the Jersey Coast and Only Two Men Escaped—From Two to Three Feet of Snow Fell, and Crops Are Greatly Damaged.

LONG BRANCH, April 12.—Two vessels were driven ashore within twenty miles of Sandy Hook. One, the big three-masted schooner Albert W. Smith, from Providence, R. I., was driven before the northeast blast and dashed on Squan beach, eight miles below Long Branch. The high surf rendered it impossible to save any of the crew, although the wreck occurred opposite the life saving station. The schooner was on her way from Philadelphia to Providence, laden with coal.

In less than half an hour after the vessel struck she was pounded into kindling wood by the seas which broke over her. What was left, a portion of the hull, was carried up about a quarter of a mile south of the life saving station. Eight men composed the crew of the schooner not one of whom has been seen since their boat was wrecked, and it is unlikely that a man of the crew has survived to tell the tale of his experience in the awful gale. Four spars have been found on the beach, and it is thought that the fourth spar was probably a part of the wrecked Kate Markee.

The Smith was commanded by Captain Samuel R. Berry. Her crew consisted of Mate Pardon S. Barber, of Narragansett Pier; Cook George Lopez, Seman Manuel Silver, Peter Pino, Andrew Deloutra, Metrici, Ambrogues, and a boy, Cezar Gomez. Captain Berry has a wife and two children in Providence.

Captain Longstreet, who has been at Squan Station for twenty-one years, said today that this storm was about as severe a one as came within his recollection on the Jersey coast. Others, he said, had been as furious, but had not lasted so long.

Directly opposite the Highland Beach station the three masted schooner Kate Markee came ashore at the outer bar, a distance of a quarter of a mile from the shore. She has gone to pieces, having eight of a crew on board. It was at first reported that the entire crew was lost, but later reports show that two of the men were saved. Owing to the vessel being so far away from the shore the life saving crews from life saving stations Nos. 1 and 2 were unable to shoot their lines to it, and as a high sea was raging it was impossible to render assistance. A number of people residing at Seabright are standing in readiness to leave their homes, fearing they will be surrounded by water from the ocean, which is threatening to flood the town.

The storm is declared the worst that has visited Seabright in eleven years. Three thousand feet of the New Jersey Southern railroad between that place and Highland Beach has been washed out. The waves were so strong that the iron rails were twisted out of shape. The sand has been washed over the tracks for nearly half a mile. Travel on the road has come to a standstill, no trains running further north than this place. A cut is reported in the Shrewsbury river near Gallilee, which, completely shuts off travel either north or south from Seabright. Telegraph and telephone wires are down, poles having been blown down by the strong wind. General Earl's hotel, the Normandie, is in danger of going to pieces. The sea has cut through to Ocean avenue at Gallilee, and St. Peter's church is in danger and is liable to be undermined.

At Cape May the storm damaged the trolley road to the extent of $2,000. Seven hundred feet of the Mount Vernon curbing was washed away. Yesterday's tide was the highest known in eleven years. The waves washed up in the yards of the Columbia avenue cottages. Several pleasure yachts have been blown ashore along the coast in this vicinity.

At Butler the storm was one of the worst of the year. The snow fell all Tuesday night, and through the country fifteen inches of snow fell. The surrounding country is covered with a mantle of white, making it appear more like a day in December than a day in April. Trains are delayed and telegraph and telephone wires are down.

The storm at Atlantic City has done considerable damage. The tide is very high and the meadows are flooded. Trains over the Camden and Atlantic railroad are unable to cross the meadows, owing to the high tide. At Brigantine Beach a large quantity of lumber has been washed away.

Reports from Delaware bay and river show considerable damage and loss to shipping and property. At Cedar Beach, on the lower bay, the water rose like a tidal wave, and the sturgeon fishermen suffered severely. Six boats were sunk at their moorings and nine more carried a mile inland and deposited in wheat fields and orchards. Twenty-five nets, valued at $3,000, were washed away, and twenty-eight small houses of fishermen wrecked or carried out to sea. The tide is said to have been the highest since 1878.

THE DAMAGE IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Fears of a Sudden Thaw and a Disastrous Flood.

HARRISBURG, April 12.—The greatest April snow storm in thirty years has covered the city streets and country roads to the depth of nearly two feet. Snow fell almost continuously for twenty-eight hours. Telephone, telegraph and other overhead wires are down in all parts of the city, and the service of the Western Union and Postal lines east and west was considerably interrupted. Thousands of trees have broken under their weight of snow, and the highway commissioner was compelled to clear Front street of the barriers of broken trees and branches, a large force of axmen being employed. Capitol park resembled a wilderness, the broken trees and wires combining to produce a weird effect. Several horses and pedestrians were severely shocked by live wires trailing upon the ground.

Lancaster reports the two days' snow storm as the worst of the season. Electric light, trolley, fire alarm, telephone and telegraph wires are all down and in an inextricable tangle, and reports of horses being shocked by trampling on the prostrated wires are numerous. A man who attempted to assist a horse received a shock which rendered him unconscious.

Reading reports the heaviest April snow storm for fifty years. All railroad traffic is delayed. All roads are badly drifted, and many thoroughfares are closed entirely. On Broad mountain the snow is twenty-five inches deep, on the Blue mountain twenty inches, and throughout the Schuylkill valley fifteen to twenty-two inches.

At Williamsport there is two feet of snow on the ground, and the destruction of electric light and telegraph wires is the most disastrous of the season. The snow is of the heavy, wet variety, and a number of roofs have fallen in under the weight of it. A sudden thaw will probably result in a disastrous flood.

At Lock Haven the storm is the heaviest of the present season. It has lasted thirty hours, and the snow is two feet deep. Lumbermen, who have been anticipating the reopening of the rafting season, will be delayed for several weeks by reason of the melting snow causing a rise in the river.

One of the most severe snow storms of the season visited Scranton yesterday, and raged all day. It stopped all travel by rail and trolley lines and made the streets of the city practically impassable. Snow fell to the depth of sixteen inches.

At Bellefonte nearly three feet of snow has fallen, part of which has melted, leaving two feet of snow on the ground. A great flood is feared.

At Wilkesbarre over two feet of snow fell. The storm continued until 4 p. m., and railroad and street car traffic was slightly delayed.

At Wellsboro a driving snow storm raged for twenty four hours and the snow if now eighteen inches deep.

IN NEW YORK STATE.

Great Damage to Shipping Along the Long Island Coast.

BUFFALO, April 12.—Snow fell here without cessation for over twenty-four hours. It is wet and heavy, loading trees and wires as heavy as they will hold. All communication by wire is difficult. Telegraph, telephone, electric light and police signal wires above ground are more or less broken, clogged and crossed. It is impossible to learn how great is the extent of the storm in this territory, but from scattering services at hand the snowfall seems to be general at this end of the state, and to extend beyond Rochester. The storm has brought employment to hundreds of men at clearing the streets and railroads.

A special from Greenpoint, L. I., says: The fiercest storm experienced here in years is raging. The wind is blowing at the velocity of over forty miles an hour, and it is snowing and raining alternately. There is great damage to shipping along the coast. The new oyster schooner Nevada has been driven ashore here. She is heavily loaded with seed oysters, and without a doubt will become a total wreck, as she is pounding herself to pieces on the rocks. The lumber sloop John Morgan parted her cables, and in less than ten minutes was a total wreck. Trees were uprooted in different parts of the village.

At Jamestown the storm, while unusually severe for the season, has done comparatively little damage. No trouble has been experienced with local telegraph and telephones. Snow fell to a depth of seven inches, but rapidly melted away. Southern Chautauqua only caught the edge of the storm.

At Lockport the snow storm is reported the severest of the season. Country roads are reported impassable. Great damage has been done to fruit trees throughout the country, and the crops will suffer seriously.

At Elmira two feet of snow fell. Railroad traffic is considerably delayed, and some of the electric surface railroads are blocked and others badly crippled.

At Middletown snow began falling at 1:30 Wednesday morning and continued until midnight.

At Olean, although much of the snowfall has melted, nearly two feet lie on a level.

At Poughkeepsie the storm reached the proportions of a small blizzard. Over a foot of snow has fallen.

Finishing Up the Peach Crop.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 12.—The few peach buds that lived through the severe freeze of the last week of March have been finished by the present severe storm of snow and sleet. The storm extended all over the peninsula, and trees were covered with ice all night. Report from all sections are uniform in expressing the opinion that all crop prospects have been completely ruined by the storm and that there is little chance of any considerable crop of berries.

"Entirely Cured."

The following letter is from Mrs. J. B. Nickel, 428 West 49th street, New York City: "I was always troubled with sick headaches and could have nothing done for them. Finally I concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. After using one bottle I felt much better and before my second bottle was gone I did not have any pain in my head, so I am entirely cured."

Hood's Pills cure headache, indigestion.

BEN BUTTERWORTH BEGINS

The Case May Not Reach the Jury Until Next Week.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The local demand for oratory was largely satisfied yesterday by the finish of Colonel Phil Thompson's speech in the Pollard-Breckinridge trial and the beginning of a plea by Major Ben Butterworth, another ex-member of congress. Beginning is said advisedly, for although Major Butterworth talked more than half of the day he progressed no further than the first relations between his client and Madeline Pollard, back in 1884. His whole argument was devoted to the point that the young woman had not been the pure and unsophisticated girl of 17 when the silver haired colonel met her that she had represented her self to be. It was a strong display of oratory. His speech was free from the vulnerables which Colonel Thompson dealt in, probably was as clean a presentation of such a case as could have been made, and was proportionately well received by his auditors.

There was an interesting incident during the morning when Judge Bradley carried into execution the threat he has several times made of clearing the room of spectators. Mr. Butterworth had been painting glowingly the virtues of his client, whose friendship he had enjoyed for many years, and was declaring dramatically that no man to whom Ben Butterworth had been a friend in his prosperous days would be deserted by him in adversity, when several men broke into applause.

The judge immediately ordered all who were not members of the bar to leave the court room. Only a small proportion of the spectators removed themselves in response to this order. Soon afterward the judge again took a hand in the case, admonishing Mr. Butterworth to confine himself to the evidence in the trial when the speaker was relating the comments that were being made by the public on the appearance of the principals in court. It is probable that Mr. Butterworth will consume all of today in rounding out his plea, and Judge Jere Wilson is expected to occupy not less than two days in his closing speech. In this event the case may not reach the jury until next week.

Marti and Guerra Again Chosen.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The Cuban revolutionary party has been holding an election during the last two days to choose the only two elective officers of the organization—delegate (which is another name for president) and treasurer. The election may be said to have been only a form, as but one candidate for each office was in the field. They were Jose Marti for delegate and Benjamin J. Guerra for treasurer. Both gentlemen are residents of New York, and they have held the same offices for the last two years. The Cuban patriots point with pride to the unanimity shown within their ranks.

Brutal Lynching in Texas.

GALESVILLE, Tex., April 12.—People in this locality are terribly wrought up over the hanging of Ed Cash by a mob. The crime was most cruelly executed, the victim being dragged out of his home in the presence of his invalid wife and strung to a tree but a few yards from the house. Not satisfied with this, the mob riddled the lifeless body with bullets, while the woman prayed for the deliverance of her husband. The murderers have not yet been captured. Mrs. Cash, who was married but a year, is momentarily expected to die. What prompted the murder is unknown.

Castelar's Desertion from Republicanism.

MADRID, April 12.—No event of greater political interest has occurred in Madrid in many years than the formal withdrawal of Emilio Castelar from the Republican group in the Cortes and his alliance with the Monarchists. The scene in the Cortes when the announcement of Senor Castelar's secession from the Republicans was made was one of great excitement, which was intensified by the announcement of several other Republicans of their intention to follow Senor Castelar into the Monarchist ranks.

Urging a Reconciliation.

LONDON, April 12.—Earl Russell, who was the respondent in the sensational and unsuccessful divorce suit brought against him in 1892 by Countess Russell, formerly Miss Mabel Scott, was served yesterday with a petition for the restoration of conjugal rights on behalf of the countess. In view of the sensational charges which the countess previously brought against her husband the result of the petition is awaited with interest. Earl Russell intends to resist the petition.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill. had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklin's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Sdeaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, and the doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box of Bucklin's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold at McMonagle & Rogers Drug store.

A NATIONAL STRIKE.

The United Mine Workers Will Quit Work April 21.

THE OLD OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

John McBride, P. H. Penna and Patrick McBride Remain at the Head of the Powerful Organization—One New Member of the Executive Board.

COLUMBUS O., April 12.—The United Mine Workers of America will declare a general strike on April 21. This was decided at the national convention of the organization yesterday.

J. A. Crawford, of Illinois, member of the executive board, presented the resolution to strike. He said from twelve to fourteen resolutions had been referred to the committee, but they had decided to substitute two, one of which was to strike April 21. This precipitated prolonged applause and animated discussion. W. D. Van Horn, of Indiana, opposed the date, asserting that the Indiana miners had a contract with the operators to work until May 1. He was in favor of suspending work May 1.

Joseph Dunkley, state president of Indiana, was bitterly opposed to the date. The date was changed to the 21st, on account of the 22d being Sunday, and carried.

The second resolution referred to above provides that in case the first general suspension of mining fails to bring the desired results the executive board is authorized to order another suspension during the year any time that may be deemed advisable.

It is understood that the Indiana miners in joining the movement in the face of their contract to mine until May 1 did so upon the ground that they were compelled, under the circumstances, to enter upon the suspension, claiming that the operators in one district had first violated the agreement and placed colored men in their places, which made it optional with the miners to say whether the contract should be continued.

Another important work will be the arrangement of a scale for the various states. This has been placed in the hands of the following committee: W. B. Wilson, Pennsylvania; M. Maby, Indianapolis; John Nugent, Ohio; Thomas Farry, West Virginia; W. C. Webb, Kentucky, and Thomas McGregor, Missouri.

John McBride was re-elected president, P. H. Penna, vice president, and Patrick McBride, secretary-treasurer. W. B. Wilson of Pennsylvania, W. C. Webb of Kentucky, Cameron Miller of Ohio and J. A. Woodford of Illinois, were elected members of the executive board. Wilson is the only new man chosen.

IN SENATE AND HOUSE

House Republicans Refuse to Vote and Force an Adjournment.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Mr. Reed held the house at bay for an hour and a half yesterday on a motion to discharge the warrant issued to the sergeant-at-arms during the fight over the contested election cases to arrest absentees. The Republicans, under his leadership, refused to vote, and the Democrats, being unable to muster a quorum, yielded to an adjournment. The Democrats fear that this move on the part of Mr. Reed is in pursuance of a carefully formulated plan to force the constant attendance of a Democratic quorum hereafter. The Republicans deny that any such plan has been agreed upon. If such a scheme were carried into effect the Democrats say they will have ample time to transact their routine business before the senate disposes of the tariff bill.

The agreement made on Tuesday went into effect yesterday, and from 1 o'clock until 5 the tariff bill was under discussion, and Senators Hale of Maine and Peffer of Kansas spoke against it. The time of the senate from 12 to 1 and from 5 to 6 (when it went into executive session) was taken up in a consideration of the urgent deficiency bill, but without reaching any conclusion in regard to it.

A Faith Cur'st's Will Broken.

PITTSBURG, April 12.—By the verdict of a jury in common pleas the will of the late John T. Rich has been broken. The verdict was in favor of the children of the deceased, who contested the will, and the trial showed many peculiarities of the deceased. He had written several tracts and books on faith cure and was a firm believer in it. The case was vigorously fought and will at once be taken to the supreme court. The deceased left an estate valued at from $50,000 to $60,000. He was one of the most peculiar characters in this county.

FRIGHTENED BY COXEY'S ARMY

Residents of a Pennsylvania Mountain Town Prepared for Fight.

CHALK HILL, Pa., April 12.—The march of the Commonweal from Uniontown to this point on the Alleghenies, was one of the most trying ones yet experienced. It was made in a driving storm, with the ground covered with a foot of snow. The stops were many, and at times it was necessary for a force of men to be sent to the rear to push along the commissary and supply wagons. The men were weary with the tramp, and gladly availed themselves of the opportunity to rest.

Six hours were consumed in the march, but at dusk camp was pitched in the old stage house near here where each commune was placed in a room where a big fire was raging. One hundred and eighty men on foot left Uniontown and continued the tramp, undismayed by the discomforts caused by the weather. The scene was surprisingly picture-que with the trees and bushes fairly groaning under their foliage of white. At Hopwood, the only town passed, all houses were locked and the male portion of the community viewed the army from the portico of the postoffice. In the building were a number of Winchester rifles ready for use. There was no use for the firearms, and a sigh of relief went up when the procession had disappeared over the mountain.

BOSTON, April 12.—It is officially announced that the New England contingent of Coxey's army will start from Faneuil hall April 17, and the officers will be Major General M. D. Fitzgerald, a professional agitator, and Brigadier General McCoy, an unemployed boiler maker. Morrison I. Swift, the leader of the unemployed, is to be superintendent.

THE ENGAGEMENT BROKEN OFF.

Miss Tyler Will Not Wed Howard Gould, the Young Millionaire.

NEW YORK, April 12.—The engagement between Miss Odette Tyler, the actress, and Howard Gould, the son of the famous financier, is reported to be broken off. It is supposed that Miss Tyler, for reasons of personal import, has changed her mind and reconsidered her determination to wed.

HOWARD GOULD AND MISS TYLER.

the young millionaire. It is also said that she will leave this country for Europe next Wednesday on the steamer New York. Miss Tyler's friends say that the probable reason for Miss Tyler breaking off the engagement was that some person had been in Savannah recently inquiring into the history of Miss Tyler's antecedents.

Chicago's Great Lockout.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Pursuant to the decision of the Central Building league and a majority of the leading builders of Chicago the lockout of all the employes engaged in the building trades began this morning at 7 o'clock. No man affiliated with a trades union will be taken back to work until a general agreement is reached that they will consent to an arbitration of all differences growing out of the schedules which the bosses have refused to sign. Representatives of both sides say that a long fight, and one in which the building trades allied industries will remain practically at a standstill, is imminent. Others declare that the lockout will last until Saturday night, but not much longer.

The Jersey Elections.

JERSEY CITY, April 12.—The report of the New Jersey elections caused great rejoicing among the Republicans. In Newark the Democrats will retain control of the common council. In Clinton and Irvington townships the entire Republican ticket was elected. In Millburn the Republicans now have control. Caldwell went Republican for the first time in its history. The same thing occurred in Verona. The Republicans carried Perth Amboy, Mont Clair, East Orange, Lambertville and Camden. The Democrats carried New Brunswick, Bordentown and Gloucester.

Cremated in Her Kitchen.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 12.—Mrs. Julia Keenan, an elderly woman of Hecksherville, was burned to death in her home. She was alone in the kitchen, and while lifting a kettle from the stove her clothes caught fire. She was enveloped in flames in a second. She died in a few hours after much suffering.

COKERS AGAIN VIOLENT

They Drive Men from Work at the H. C. Frick Ovens.

SURRENDERED TO THE STRIKERS.

The Men Driven from Work Compelled to Join the Ranks of the Rioters—It Is Now Asserted That Paddock Was Killed by His Own Assistant.

UNIONTOWN Pa., April 12.—There was considerable disorder in the coke region yesterday. The first outbreak came when an armed mob of 500 strikers assembled at the Youngstown works of the H. C. Frick company, near here. About sixty coke drawers were in the pit, when at a given signal the strikers swooped down upon the plant from every direction. The workers fled for shelter to the company's store, which was guarded by only six employes.

The 400 Huns in the mob demanded that the workmen be given up. This was refused at first, but after several attacks the workmen were given up. They were treated to all sorts of insults, and some of them were beaten with clubs.

Sheriff Wilhelm was notified at once and started for the scene of the trouble. The rioters had left for the Loisenring's, taking the Youngstown workers with them. The sheriff gave chase with twenty deputies, overtook them, and ordered them to disperse. The leader of the rioters answered that they were on the public highway and they had equal rights with the sheriff. A deputy took charge of one of the men, when the strikers surrounded the posse and forced the authorities to give up the man. The sheriff's force fell back and the strikers continued their march.

At the Youngstown works, it is said, an attempt was made to shut off the air from the mine, which would have resulted in suffocation and death for the workers.

At midnight the region was quiet, according to the story of Sheriff Wilhelm, who has just returned from the scene of yesterday's trouble. He carries a broken arm, which he got by falling over an embankment while pursuing the mob from the Youngstown plant. He did not see a physician until he arrived home, and the arm is now in a bad condition. He at once began swearing in deputies to go into service this morning, and a large number are now in the field.

The sheriff states that while everything is now quiet the condition of things is uncertain.

The strikers are very much elated over the action of the national organization of United Mine Workers, and feel that their cause is made stronger. The employes of the H. C. Frick company have stated, however, that, regardless of the national organization, they will remain at work and keep their contract with the company.

The strikers now contend that Paddock was shot by Colts, his assistant, during the excitement during the Davidson trouble. They contend that Colts shot at the strikers without provocation, and that when his hasty action had incensed the strikers and caused them to make the demonstrations he became so excited that he fired in all directions, one of his bullets killing Paddock. In support of this they point out that Paddock was in front of Colts when he received the wound in the back of his head. They also further assert that none of the rioters were armed.

Four Fatally Burned by Molten Metal.

POMEROY, O., April 12.—A hydraulic plunger on a converter at the Middleport steel plant broke yesterday, precipitating 8,000 pounds of white hot metal among sixty workmen from a distance of fifteen feet. Ten were burned, four fatally. Those who will surely die are: Jack Hayden, Orlando Grady (a boy), William Cozens (colored), who had his arm burned off, and Stephen Weeks, who had both eyes burned out. The hot metal scattered for fifty feet in all directions. The clothes were burned from all within reach. All the fatally injured are single men except Cozens, who has a large family.

Destitution Among Strikers.

GROVE CITY, Pa., April 12.—Many families of the striking miners at Chestnut Ridge are starving. For the past month they have been receiving aid from the farmers of southern Mercer county, but now the latter refuse to aid them further because they think the men should accept the reduction and return to work. The operators say the old wages will be paid when trade brightens up.

The Puzzle Solved.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most nauseous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the many modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising. No druggist is without it.

AND WHITE IS THE ASSISTANT EXECUTIVE OF COLORADO.

She Is a Woman of Varied Accomplishments and Is a True Helpmeet to Her Husband—Is Petite and Is Nevertheless Handsome.

Mrs. Waite, wife of the governor of Colorado, whose recent appointment of Miss Helen Grenfell as assistant executive has caused such a flutter in political circles, is a woman of many accomplishments and considerable personal charm. She is a native of Ohio, and is 43 years of age, and for a number of years was a resident of Denver. She was a widow with a family of children when she married Governor Waite, and has had three children by her present husband, all of whom, with the exception of the youngest, are living with their parents in the governor's mansion. Mrs. Waite is a woman of strong character and has been a great help to her husband in his political career. She is a woman of fine presence, and is a graceful and entertaining conversationalist. She is a lover of books and has a large and well selected library. She is also a lover of music and is herself a skilful performer on the piano. She is a member of the Presbyterian church and is a liberal contributor to its charities. She is also a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance union and is a strong advocate of the principles of that organization. She is a woman of strong will power and has a mind of her own, but is withal a most charming lady, and is very popular in social circles. She is a woman of fine physique and is very handsome. She is very bright and forward and full of the latest happenings and is a fine conversationalist. She is affectionately called "the prima donna" by the family circle.

Mrs. Waite is not much over 5 feet tall and can weigh only 100 pounds in weight. She dresses plainly and does not go into society. On the day of the governor's inauguration she sat in a box in the Broadway theater where the ceremony took place, an unassuming looking woman, rather than one whose appearance in connection with the governor's office, a thing which we doubt she is frequently called upon to perform.

The society women of Capitol hill regard Governor Waite's choice of assistant executive with considerable interest. They would probably make a great many blunders in their ignorance, but where they would not slight through it would doubtless be their duty to make her feel her little inferiority. The shoe was worn on the other foot Mr. White left Denver week previous to return to his official work, previous to which Governor Waite and Miss Helen Grenfell were married. The ceremony, over 200 guests witnessing, was performed by Rev. Dr. Darley, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, of which Governor Waite is a member. The bride was given away by Governor Waite, and Miss Grenfell was attended by Miss Ida Waite, sister of the governor, and Mr. Frank Waite, brother of the governor. The bride's dress was of white satin, trimmed with point lace, and she carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid's dress was of white organdie, trimmed with lace, and she also carried a bouquet of white roses. The ushers were Mr. Frank Waite, brother of the governor, and Mr. Charles Grenfell, brother of the bride. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock in the evening, and was followed by a reception at the executive mansion, which was attended by a large number of the friends of the contracting parties. The bride received many handsome presents, among which was a check for $1,000 from Governor Waite. The bride is a native of Ohio, and is a graduate of Wellesley college. She is a lady of fine literary attainments, and is a fine musician. She is a member of the Presbyterian church, and is a lady of many estimable qualities. She has been a resident of Denver for several years, and has a large circle of friends who will wish her much happiness in her new position.

The Best Thing in Milk Pails

is Pearline. That's the solid truth. You get them cleaner, and with less work and time, than with anything else you can use. It saves you so much that it's cheaper than the commonest stuff can be. Proof—the largest dairies and dealers use Pearline.

Some women are afraid of Pearline. They think that where cleaning is made so easy, there must be some harm to the thing washed. But Pearline can't hurt milk pails, anyway. And it can't hurt the finest lace or the cutest hands, any more than it hurts milk pails.

Not so with the imitations—the fact that they are imitators or followers proves a lack of something, or

ONE OF THE FIGHTING SPOONERS.

He Is in Charge of the Military Department of Colorado.

GENERAL M'COOK.

General Alexander McDowell McCook, whose name has been so frequently mentioned of late in connection with the trouble between Governor Waite and the Denver police commissioners, is commander of the military department of Colorado, with headquarters at Fort Logan, near Denver. He is one of the last known of the famous "fighting McCooks" of Ohio, about whom a word or two may not be amiss.

The McCooks are often designated as the "Duke of Ohio" or the "Duke of Kent" from their supposed descent from Randal and Sir John McCook, who came together. There were nine McCook brothers during the civil war, all in the United States service, and all but one officers of high rank. Thomas, a boy of 15, served with McCook, and in his report upon the first battle of Bull Run, July 21, 1861, he says: "On this field this young boy was the darling of general officers and soldiers alike. Mounted on a diminutive pony, he was always to be found in the hottest fire, and was the last man to leave the field." Major Daniel McCook fell near Atlanta in the country's service, and Alexander McCook was the only one who survived the war. The latter was born in Columbiana county, O., April 22, 1831, and graduated from the military academy at West Point in 1852. He was appointed captain in May, 1861, and was made colonel of the Second Ohio infantry in December, 1861. After 1865 he served mostly with his regiment on the western frontier, excepting the period from 1867 to 1871, when he was on the staff of General Sherman in Mexico. In 1871 he was placed in command of the Lebanon and cavalry school at Fort Leavenworth, where he remained until he was promoted brigadier general on the retirement of General H. M. Cannon in 1890.

LOVES THE SUNNY SOUTH

Senator Blanchard—Will Make Natchez His Permanent Home.

Mrs. Blanchard, wife of the new senator from Louisiana, is to accompany her husband to Washington society. During the fifteen years of her husband's service in the house of representatives most of her time has been spent at the capital, and Washington has become a second home to her. She is a very handsome woman, a little above the medium height, with dark, soft brown eyes, a good complexion and a finely molded figure, which is usually attired in a handsome and becoming costume. Her manner is cheerful and cordial, and she is a frank and pleasant talker, discussing grave political questions with an ability and intelligence beyond the ken of the average woman.

Like most southern women, Mrs. Blanchard—or Governess, as she is known to her friends—is devoted to her home and loves the sunny southland and grows choice upon what she calls it. Her memory is stored with pleasant pictures of her southern home and she can converse with a northern visitor for hours on a winter plantation in Language that is really poetical.

"Our hedge-rows plantations are beautiful," she said. "There are groves of the cane, like fields of corn, and down the rows will go a band of negroes cutting the joints of it in a square and handful it away to the mill, that grinds night and day when the season is on. The cotton fields are lined out, too, like rows of hills of corn. In the autumn, when the plant first begins to bud, there is a faint yellowish glow over the fields and woods, the color changing with a soft, rich rose pink, that makes the hill look almost as rose with light.

"The Blanchards are not long home from Washington, but here at Locust Grove Mrs. Blanchard, three beautiful Wyoming daughters, and a grandson, the son of a young son of 18, are undergoing sentence of a long vacation. The Blanchard home is of Shreveport in a spacious and beautiful mansion, but this family is unable to spend much time there except in the height of congressional sessions. Mrs. Blanchard was born of a republican family, and reared at Shreveport.

Parent Regulations.

A warm bath at night is to remove the impurities of the skin, to relax the external vessels and to induce drowsiness, and a cold sponge in the morning to harden the flesh, to excite vigilance and energy, are two of the most important functions of a woman's life.

A BAD TEMPER

Mrs. P. A. Cox.

Is usually accompanied by a torpid liver and impure blood. As the skin is the great blood purifier, it follows that all diseases of the skin arise from impure blood. Hence the importance of keeping the liver active and the blood pure. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will positively cure any such case.

Mrs. P. A. Cox, of Mt. Pleasant, Jefferson Co., Iowa, writes: "I had a bad case of Eczema, which appeared on my face, and was very troublesome. I had tried many remedies, but found no relief. I was induced to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and before I had taken one bottle I could see a change for the better. I have taken five bottles, and my face is entirely free from the disease. I am very grateful for the benefit I have received from your medicine."

MARY HOGAN'S BANK.

Where an Insane Woman Kept $750—Now It Must go to the State—A Sheriff's Jury Says So.

From the Poughkeepsie News-Press.

A story of singular and pathetic interest was developed on Tuesday, in the case which came from behind the necessary seclusion of the Hudson River State Hospital. Among the patients in that institution is Mary Hogan, who was sent from Mohegan, Westchester county, where she was a domestic in the family of Frank Frye. She was adjudged insane and admitted to the hospital six months ago. She was in a wretched state and her clothing was very poorly cared for. The attendants, however, found secreted about her person the sum of $750. The bills were tucked away in all sorts of shapes and places, some in her stockings, some in her shoes, some under the ribbons of her bonnet and some sewed to the lining of her dress. The money was almost unfit to be handled, but it was collected and saved, and the story came out as stated. through a movement on the part of the State to get it in payment for Mary Hogan's board and maintenance at the hospital. A sheriff's jury adjudged her incapable of managing her affairs and a committee will be appointed by the court. In this way the hospital will be paid. The action was ordered to be taken by the State Commission in Lunacy. Mary Hogan has no known friends. She was employed by Mr. Frye from an intelligence office in New York.

"LADY BLARNEY."

Annie Ward Tiffany's Merry Play at the Casino.

Lady Blarney, an American comedy, with a deep Irish tinge will be presented by Annie Ward Tiffany, at Casino Theatre, on Monday next, April 16th. The play was written by Alfred Kennedy, for Annie Ward Tiffany, and contains many bright lines and situations. Lady Blarney, as played by Miss Tiffany, is a refined rollicking Irish character, in which Miss Tiffany appears in that line which she has made her own. She is a good natured woman, with quaint homely philosophy, constantly coming trippingly on her tongue, and always ready to do the right thing in the right place. The play is a refreshing departure from the old line, and there are many situations that are laughable and some that are touching for their simplicity. A strong company is in support of Miss Tiffany, and Lady Blarney requires it, for it is not what is called a one-part play. Music is one of the features and every member of the company is a singer of note, who, assisted by Lady Blarney Glee Club, render a charming musical programme. Prices as usual.

—The whole of Waterloo Mountain and part of Allamuchy Mountain was burned over, last week. The fire began in the vicinity of Allen's quarry, and burned until the rain, on Wednesday, extinguished it. Great loss falls upon James French, the Smiths and Rutherfords.

—The loss by the recent fire on the farm of Theodore Longcor, and managed by his son, Alonzo, near Greenville, is placed at from $5,000 to $7,000, with an insurance of $3,000 in the Farmers' Mutual, of Warren county, and the Mechanics', of Newark. The house on the same farm was burned eighteen years ago.

—In the Sussex county court, last week, in the suits against the Edison Company to recover damages for the deaths of three men killed at the Ogden mine, by the fall of a building, a verdict of $775 was rendered in the McConnell case, one of $366 50 in the Search case, and one of six cents in the Italian's case, it not having been shown that his mother in Italy was dependent on him for support.

WORKING GIRLS IN DANGER

Rush for Spring Goods Doubles the Strain on Tired Shop Girls—Vacations a Long Way Off—How Many Keep Well and Strong.

"O men with sisters dear,
O men with mothers and wives,
It is not the linen you're wearing out,
But human creatures' lives."

If Thomas Hood could have looked into one of the big retail stores in any city with the endless streams of eager buyers and the pale-faced shop girls behind the counters, he would have included women as well as men in his appeal for more humanity.

In order that some may go finely clad and have leisure, thousands of tired working girls must wear out health, good looks and strength by long close hours in offices, behind monotonous store counters and in factories.

"Women," as Dr. Weir Mitchell says, "are by physiological nature more liable to be nervous and thin-blooded than are men." It is a sad drawback in the face of the duties of life that a very little emotional disturbance, anxiety or nervous strain suffices to overcome the women as it does not the man, and that the same excesses which make him irritable make her nervous.

The greatest friend tired, feeble women have to day is Paine's celery compound, the remarkable discovery of Prof. Edward E Phelps, M. D., L L D, of Dartmouth college.

This greatest nerve regulator and blood purifier yet known is the mainstay of a great proportion of the homes throughout the country where nervous weakness and feebleness have entered. Paine's celery compound begins at once to rebuild the shattered nerves and nerve centers all over the body. It is one great spring medicine, because it quickly removes impurities from the blood, gives new life and vigor by filling every tiny ramification of the blood vessels with rich red blood, capable of making healthy tissue.

"The difference between the knowledge of to-day," says a well-known scientist, "and that possessed before Dr. Phelps' studies of the nerves and their intimate connection with every process in the body, is enormous. Dyspepsia, for example, is now ranked as a nervous disease, and, as in the case of other nervous weakness, it is readily curable by attending closely to the nutrition of the nerve centers with Paine's celery compound. Diseases of the kidneys, heart and liver are cured in the same radical way by providing abundant and appropriate nutrition for these parts."

"Not more food but better," is the watchword of the best medical skill better food for nerves and nerve centers. When the system is completely nourished the tired-out, run down feeling vanishes, and the craving of the nerves called neuralgia, rheumatism and heart trouble ceases.

"There is one remedy deserving the name of spring medicine—that is Paine's celery compound," said a very careful physician. Sick headache, sleeplessness, mental oppression and lack of energy are cured by Paine's celery compound. It makes people well.

BLOWN FROM A CAR

A Car Uncoupled and a Brakeman Carried with It and Seriously Injured.

About 11 o'clock yesterday morning, while Conductor Doty's freight train was at Penn Horn, the roof of a car was blown off, and Brakeman Delbert Ross, of Port Jervis, who was on the car at the time was carried with it and thrown violently to the ground.

When picked up it was found that Ross had suffered a fracture of the skull, and two of the bones of his right foot were broken. He was taken to Port Jervis, where the operation of trephining was performed to relieve the pressure on the brain.

Must Pay for the Milk.

From the Jackson Gazette.

The trial of the suit of John B. Phelps vs. P. E. Sanford & Co., was watched with interest by the farmers. The defense contended that under a contract the milk for the last month need not be paid for, because the plaintiff stopped delivering milk before the year expired—and because the damages suffered by reason of the failure of the plaintiff to continue the delivery of his milk were equal to the value of the milk not paid for. The jury rendered a verdict for the full amount of milk delivered.

Royal Amenities.

FLORENCE, April 12.—Queen Victoria and Prince and Princess Henry of Battenburg (Princess Beatrice) lunched at the Pitti palace yesterday with King Humbert and Queen Margherita of Italy. The luncheon service used upon this occasion was of solid gold, and was the workmanship of Benvenuto Cellini, the famous Florentine artist in metals. King Humbert and his family returned to Rome in the evening.

Extradition Refused.

ALBANY, April 12.—Governor Flower refused to grant the application of the governor of Maryland for the extradition of Charles A Howes, wanted in that state on the charge of forgery. Howes is a paroled prisoner of the Elmira reformatory, and cannot be punished or even arrested for another crime until he has been fully discharged from the reformatory.

Newfoundland's Ministerial Crisis.

ST JOHNS, N F, April 12.—The resignation of the government was announced in the assembly yesterday afternoon, and the formal resignations of the members were handed to the governor at 8 p. m. The governor announced on Tuesday that he had decided not to dissolve the house, and this left no alternative to the government ministers but to resign.

To Drop Colonel Breckinridge.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Colonel W C. P. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, will be dropped from the roll of honorary membership in the Union league club of this city immediately after the verdict is rendered in the suit now pending in Washington. The announcement is made by an official of the club.

Smallpox at Teasedale, Pa.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 12.—Smallpox has appeared in the village of Teasedale, this county. There are eight well developed cases, and the state board of health has been notified. The disease is supposed to have been brought from Danville.

The McGarrahan Claim Again.

WASHINGTON April 12.—The McGarrahan claim has been ordered favorably reported by the house committee on land claims.

Richard Wistar's Charities.

PHILADELPHIA April 12.—The will of Richard Wistar, the eccentric millionaire who died on Saturday, was made public last night. He makes numerous bequests to personal friends and servants, including legacies of $20,000 to Mary J. McIntyre, the housekeeper of his brother and himself, and $10,000 each to his lawyer and agent, who are named as executors and trustees. The residence of the estate is to be held in trust to found and endow a free memorial library on the site of the family residence. The trustees are also empowered to make loans to deserving mechanics, and to purchase free beds in hospitals. A question arises as to the validity of the charitable bequests, as the law requires them to be made thirty days before the death of the testator, and Mr Wistar made his will but five days before his death.

To Suppress Illegal Sealing.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The sailing orders and instructions of the commanders of the ships on the seal patrol were completed by the navy department and submitted to the secretary of state for his approval. So far they are kept secret but the general tenor of the instructions, it is understood, require the naval officers to seize any vessel found engaged in sealing north of the 55th degree of latitude and east of the 180th meridian after May 1 and before Aug 1. The presence on board of sealing apparatus will be regarded as sufficient proof of the character of the vessel to warrant her seizure.

The Gaylord Mine Disaster Inquest.

WILKESBARRE, Pa, April 12.—The coroner's inquest over the victims of the Gaylord mine disaster was begun at Plymouth yesterday. About a dozen witnesses were examined, most of whom were company officials. They all testified that in their opinion the mine was not a dangerous one, and that the company never authorized the removing of the pillars. Deputy Mine Inspector Powell, in testifying at the inquest, said the explosion seemed to be one of old and experienced miners.

An Engineer's Fatal Mistake.

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., April 12.—In a freight train wreck A Beeler, brakeman, was instantly killed, the fireman, J. W. Tucker, has both legs broken, Al Phillips, brakeman, was injured so that he died soon after, and two tramps were seriously injured. The engineer thought he was on the main track when he was on a switch and ran the train off the end of the switch down an embankment.

To Appeal from Judge Jenkins' Decision.

MILWAUKEE, April 12.—The members of the Jenkins labor investigation committee left the city yesterday. From the expressions of the members of the committee it is not believed that there will be two reports. Attorney Harper, representing the labor element, is making arrangements for an appeal from Judge Jenkins' decision to the circuit court of appeals, and from there to the supreme court, if it will be carried to the United States supreme court.

Many Farms in the Sheriff's Hands.

WEST CHESTER, Pa, April 12.—The financial depression among the Chester county farmers is never worse than it is just now. Sheriff Ingram has another big sale of farms on hand, and he has a score of executions, details of which are farmers' families. Since announcing the last sale he has received half a dozen more properties to dispose of.

DAILY ARGUS.

C. MACARDELL, PUBLISHER.

GEORGE H. THOMPSON, C. MACARDELL, } EDITORS
J. P. PERKINS, CITY EDITOR
A. E. NICKINSON, BUSINESS MANAGER

THURSDAY, APRIL 12, 1894.

The World well says that "in their remarks about each other's clients the Pollard suit lawyers prove themselves equal to the task of keeping the case up to the high standard established by the evidence."

The anti-treating bill has been killed in the lower house of the Massachusetts Legislature. This was the wise thing to do. The bill was a ridiculous attempt to regulate and control individual action in a matter entirely outside the province of government. If treating is ever done away with it will be by moral reform, not by legislative enactment.

Mayor Gilroy, while in Albany, yesterday, was called on by Editor Speer, of the Argus, which, in the interest of the Hill-Republican combination, opposed the regular Democratic ticket at Albany's municipal election. The Mayor spoke his mind very forcibly in regard to Mr. Speer's political course, telling him that as a Democrat he ought to have been loyal to the regularly nominated candidates of his party, and that in the face of his position he ought to get out of Tammany Hall.

Gov. Flower, yesterday, signed Senator Sexton's bill making an attempt to vote illegally a felony punishable by imprisonment for not less than two nor more than five years. Theoretically this legislation is all right, but practically it will have an effect directly contrary to that intended. The trouble has not been that the election laws were not strict enough, but that they were not enforced and the chances are that there will be even less disposition to enforce the severer penalties prescribed by this last addition to the statutes of the State.

The Republicans in the State Senate adopted, yesterday, the resolution passed, Tuesday, by the Republicans in the Assembly congratulating Senator Hill on his abuse of the Democratic administration and his opposition to the tariff bill. In spite of the efforts of the New York Sun and other toilers and thin Hill organs to make it appear that Mr. Hill's speech is the purest kind of Democracy, the fact is patent that it affords Republicans great joy, while Democrats look upon it as a shameful prude to the betrayal of a great trust.

A recent report by the Bureau of Statistics plays havoc with the popular notion that an increased consumption of malt liquors causes a decreased consumption of spirituous liquors. Since 1880 the per capita consumption of malt liquors in this country has almost doubled, yet the per capita consumption of spirituous liquors has increased twenty per cent. The figures of the report, giving the per capita consumption, are as follows:

	Distilled Spirits, Gallons	Wines Gallons.	Malt Liquors Gallons
1880	1.57	2.0	8.0
1885	1.37	2.1	10.12
1890	1.41	2.5	12.76
1892	1.50	2.5	14.10
1893	1.52	—	15.05

A ROW IN THE ASSEMBLY.

Eight Members Arraigned for Contempt.

By United Press

ALBANY, April 11.—In the Assembly, to-day, there was a turbulent scene, growing out of the vote on Mr. Sulzer's motion to reconsider the Factory Inspection bill.

After the vote had been announced showing that the motion was lost, Sulzer demanded a detailed statement. This was denied him, and Mr. Sulzer shouted he could not be bull dozed and surrounded by other Democrats made quite an outcry.

He was compelled to be seated. Several Democrats then refused to vote on other bills and the following were arraigned for contempt: Messrs. Hennesy, Sulzer, Martin, Trainor, Southworth, Stein, Lafertra and Kelper. The Speaker finally excused the offenders with a threat of worse punishment if the matter was repeated.

Coxey's Followers Tramping Through the Snow.

By United Press.

CHALK HILL, Pa., April 12—At 9:30 this morning, the Army of the Commonweal resumed its journey over the snow covered road to Petersburg. Previous to starting Marshal Smith spoke words of encouragement to the men, of whom 227 began to march. The weather was colder than at any time yesterday, but the roads were firmer. At Somerfield the army was received by quite a crowd of people, and a halt of two hours was made and a cold lunch was served. Coxey and Brown addressed a fair sized crowd.

"FLOWERS OF THE FOREST."

Successful Presentation at the Casino Last Night—A Good House Despite the Storm—"Fennel" Well Acted.

The blizzard had the effect of keeping a great many people away from the Casino, last night, but a good sized audience was present, and the entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed.

The performance was opened with dances by several of the little people, who made such a hit at the calico hop given by Prof. Commerce at the Assembly Rooms, last week.

The one-act play by Jerome K. Jerome, entitled "Fennel, or the Master Violin Maker of Cremona," was admirably rendered by the following cast:

Taddeo Ferrari	Mr. George Bailey
Sandro	Mr. Wickham Young
Phillipo	Mr Odell Hathaway
Giannina	Miss Mattie Cordner
Pages	Master Harry Dunham, Master Johnny Bladner

Mr. Bailey gave evidence of dramatic ability far superior to many of the so-called actors that have recently appeared at the Casino in repertoire productions.

Messrs. Young and Hathaway were excellent in their respective characters, and Miss Mattie Cordner fairly captivated her audience by the charming manner in which she portrayed the character of Giannina, the daughter of Ferrari.

The three-act romantic gypsy drama, "Flowers of the Forest," followed, and the skillful performances of the young ladies and gentlemen in the cast gave evidence of careful and painstaking coaching upon the part of the manager, Mr. Odell Hathaway.

The cast of the play is a long one, and as each member of it was fully equal to the demands made upon him or her by the character portrayed, we refrain from making individual criticisms. Special mention may, however, with propriety, be made of Miss Bertha Morgans in the role of Starlight Bess, and the Misses Cordner and Gregory, whose singing and dancing were excellent.

The following is the cast of characters of the play:

Captain Lavrock	Mr. Clifford Owen
Alfred	Mr. Frank Weed
Leycourbe	Mr. Eugene Harding
Litton	Mr. Charles Roth
Mayneld	Mr. Arlington Ambler
Cheap John	Mr. George F. Bailey
Headborough	Mr. Ernest Cox
Gilbert	Mr. Fred Corwin
Ishmael	Mr. Wickham Young
Pharos	Mr. Phillip Whitlock
Lemuel	Mr. Ralph Stratton
Kitchin	Mr. Odell Hathaway
Nimmer	Mr. John Bright
Reuben	Mr. Marshall Walthall
Lady Agnes	Miss Grace Kortright
Abigail	Miss Beatrice Meyers
Winifred	Miss Daisy Ross
Cyrilla—Gypsy Queen	Miss Eva Gregory
Hagar	Miss Addie Slater
Lloyd	Miss Martie Cordner
Starlight Bess	Miss Bertha Morgans
Pages. Villagers, Gypsies

The performance will be repeated this evening, when a much larger audience is expected to be present.

Henry E. Dixey and James B. Mackie were early partners in the Theatrical Business. Mackie will be here. At the Casino Theatre, Friday night, April 13th.

—The trout season opens Saturday, but Middletown fishermen are not half as much interested in the event as they were before the blizzard.

—Delaware county farmers did not make much maple sugar this year, the season not having been favorable for a good run of sap.

—Mr. Lawrence Herman has issued invitations to the opening of his new cafe, No. 41 James street, Thursday evening, of this week.

—J. F. Rogan is now established in his new saloon, No. 102 North street. The place is handsomely fitted up and will compare favorably with most of the places in town.

—The Musical Magnets are arranging an attractive programme for their concert, next Tuesday evening, April 17th, at the First Congregational Church.

—The officers of the Delaware County Agricultural Society have decided to build a grand stand on the fair ground, at Delhi, this season. It will be 132 feet long, twenty-four feet wide and two stories high.

—Billy Forsythe, at one time a "coming man," and a protege of Ed. Dillon, of Fishkill, was knocked out in twelve rounds, yesterday, near Jamaica, L. I., by Jimmy McVey, a Brooklyn boxer.

Mackie is coming. Wait for him. Grimesey-me Boy. At the Casino, Friday night, April 13th.

PERSONAL.

—John Moran, for the past twenty-five years a faithful employe of the Erie, died at his home in Newburgh, Tuesday night.

—Mr. Nathaniel O. Roe and Miss Lillian Westbrook were married at the home of the bride in Port Jervis, at 12:30 o'clock, Wednesday.

—Miss Mattie Cordner has been offered an engagement with the Annie Ward Tiffany Co., which appears at the Casino, Monday, April 16.

—George Harris, of Middletown, chief clerk in the O. and W. car accountant's office, was visiting with his mother, on North Broad street, a short time this week.—Norwich Sun.

—James H. Young, a brother of Mrs. J. J. S. McCroskery, died in Newburgh, yesterday, aged fifty-seven years. For many years he was the teller in the First National Bank, but for a few years past has resided on a farm at St. Andrews.

—Mr. William B. Hornbeck, a messenger for the Adams Express Co., on the O. and W., and Miss Georgiana M. Decker, of Port Jervis, were married at the residence of the bride's sister, in Port Jervis, at 5 o'clock, last evening. They came to this city on train 8 and stopped at the Madison House, leaving town on the O. and W., this morning.

Pink Tea and Maple Wax Social.

Come prepared for a good time at the Pink Tea and Maple Wax Sociable, to be held at the home of Mrs. Alex Merritt, corner West Main and James street, to-morrow evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's Church. THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Prof. Sanford Absent on Account of Illness—Mrs. Burke Occupies the Morning Session With Talks on Primary Work.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Prof. Sanford continued the language work begun in the last morning session.

Seventh—Have the children describe what they have seen. This is an important work, as the power of seeing things fully and in their true relations should be developed.

The professor illustrated the importance of this work by numerous and amusing anecdotes.

Mrs. Burke, who was to use the next period in primary work, did not reach Middletown in time to take up the work, to-day, and Prof. Sanford announced that he would take the time for his work on "Reproduction exercises."

One of the best ways of doing the work is that practiced by Supt. Cole, of Albany, which consists in having slips of paper with sentences either printed or written on them. They are placed on the desks, and at a given signal pupils take them and reproduce them in a given time. The advantage of this method is that mental concentration is gained, and they learned to work under pressure. He gave hints in the use of encyclopedias. Do not allow pupils to copy, but have them read until they are full of the subject, and then they can write on the subject. One of the requirements is to feel the subject, for no one can take more interest in a subject than the writer feels in the subject of study.

A few years ago, three commissioners adopted a graded course of study for the schools in their districts. The idea spread, until now a large number have adopted a systematic graded course that is recognized by the State Department.

A graded course has been prepared by a committee which has received the endorsement of Supt. Crooker. It covers a nine years' course and in it no method of instruction is suggested, but in connection with this a manual has been prepared which will give all necessary suggestions for carrying this out. It is hoped that this will be found applicable to union schools.

Prof. Sanford paid a high tribute to Supt. Crooker in regard to his practical knowledge of the details of his work.

One important reform that he has secured is an amendment to the school law, making the school year 160 days, inclusive of legal holidays, instead of the old one of thirty-two weeks, and prohibiting teaching on a legal holiday.

Supt. Crooker also suggests that the diploma granted on the completion of the graded course be taken as equivalent for the entrance to Normal schools. So far seventy-five commissioners have adopted the graded course in their districts.

3:00 to 4:15—Prof. Sanford began the exercises of this period by answering some of the questions in the inquiry box. Among the questions in the box was one in regard to cases of absence and tardiness in which the Professor advanced the idea that a teacher should only mark pupils as present when they have been at school long enough to do some work.

From this he went on to discuss methods of keeping registers and the apportionment of public moneys, which he said was based on two things; first, $100 for each teacher, and second, an amount based upon the aggregate, not the average, attendance.

In the matter of exclusion of children from school on account of no room, he said a board of education has no right to exclude them The law gives the board of education authority to rent rooms and employ teachers and they must provide room for them; nor can the board exclude any one who applies for admission in the middle of a term. He expressed his opinion that any judge could issue a mandamus compelling the board of education to admit them.

In regard to the closing of schools on Labor Day and other legal holidays, he said the closing of schools on these days is mandatory and trustees and boards of education have no power in the matter.

THURSDAY MORNING.

In spite of the storm, 132 teachers responded to their numbers at the roll call.

In the absence of Prof. Sanford, Prof. Tracy, of Goshen, conducted the devotional exercises.

Prof. Sanford was prevented by sickness from taking up the work of the first period, and Mrs. Burke, of Malone, N. Y., took it up. She began with the assertion that primary work was the most important branch of teaching, for this is the formation period, and good habits formed then are for life. The importance of primary work is not recognized by the State of New York. It is a common error to think any one can teach, no matter how imperfectly they are qualified. In selecting a teacher we assume:

First—That they are of good moral character. This is not enough; we should go behind this and see that they are beyond reproach.

Second—They must be qualified in subject matter.

Third—They must have studied the child. This is a thing that cannot be found out except by experience. This knowledge must be gained by study of books in part, but much more extensively by the study of the child.

It is the business of the teacher to attend to the development of the body, the mind, the soul.

This work is multiplied to the teacher by the neglect of the parents.

Development of the mind requires close study; we must study their likes and dislikes and find out how they can do their work to the best advantage. The play impulse is the predominant one in children and advantage should be taken of this, and their work directed along this line. The more work you can get them to do in this line the more lasting the impression will be.

The finding of a child's likes will be a great aid in dicipline.

"Thought Getting."—The process is like the growth of plants. It is a growth by itself; we must furnish the necessary conditions and stimulants.

There are three lines of thought—first, along the line of the sciences; second, the arts; third, literature.

The senses are most active and capable of receiving impression in childhood, and as all our knowledge of sciences comes through the five senses, we should begin our thought-getting with the sciences making this the basis of our work.

One advantage of this is that we have the material for this at hand and we can begin with object teaching.

This should be made the basis of all teaching, number work, reading, geography and language.

10:15 to 11—Mrs. Burke continued her primary work.

Care should be taken not to continue the concrete too long, but work in the abstract should begin as soon as the child can grasp it.

The first day in school we should begin the study of the child, but we must not ignore the fact that the child brings a general store of knowledge and a teacher should call this into play as much as they can.

An outline for this science work would be, first, Plant Life; second, Animal Life; third, Human Life.

Every fact in nature is a study of God's thought, and every beauty in nature is an expression of His love to man.

We think it a disgrace for a child of eight or ten to be unable to read and write, but we are too apt not to care whether they can read nature or not.

Miss Burke stated that it was always easier to improve an outline than to originate one.

Let the child bring the plants, but be sure they bring them all, first, showing them that a plant has three parts, root, stem and leaves, and then its subdivisions.

Perhaps the flower would be the best place for the study of subdivisions, as it is the most attractive part of plants. Then comes descriptions of the parts or subdivisions.

Uses.—First, of the part in the plant economy, second, its uses to man.

Adaptations:—The way the plant is adapted for its work in nature, and the performance of its functions. In the spring we begin with buds; bring in branches and have the children watch their development.

In the fall seeds should be studied as to the way they are borne on the plant, and in the winter the seeds which have been collected in the fall should be used for the children to study the phenomena of growth, and the conditions of light, heat and moisture.

11:15-12:00,—Mrs. Burke continued the work of the first two periods and suggested several other outlines as air, water, soil, etc., heat, light, quality lessons. Transparency, pliable, flexable, etc., and manufactured articles. In this do not devote to much time to names of parts, but too much time cannot be devoted to adaptation of articles. They can be grouped under form, quality and improvements. In this work do not be too childish; be sure that they understand what they are doing, but do not be simple.

"Expression."—This must follow thought getting, and is of greater importance. The first thing to be observed is, be sure the thought precedes the attempt to express it. In this work the teachers should be careful of the care of their voices. A great deal depends on this; a teacher should constantly be on the lookout for bad habits in speaking. The teachers should never allow themselves to scold or speak in a high key. Then the teacher should see that children have correct tones.

Mrs. Burke closed this period with an eloquent plea for manual training, quoting Herbert Spencer that "it is a shame for one to live on the work of another's hands." The advocated teaching of sewing, and the use of tools in our school. Let this be done in a spirit of unselfishness, and the children taught to do work for another.

At the close Commissioner Clark made the announcement that owing to the sickness of Prof. Sanford, his lecture which was to have taken place to-night, would be given up.

The following is the programme for the remainder of the week:

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

Pastor White Reappointed to the Goshen Charge—Reported Sale of the Brick Yard—To Lecture in Middletown—Minor Notes

From our regular correspondent,

—Rev. S. F. White, pastor of the M. E. Church, has been re-appointed to the Goshen charge. He returned from Conference, last evening.

—It is reported that the Peter Hayne brick yard has been sold to a gentleman from Catskill, N. Y., who will resume brick making there, in a short time, with a large force of men.

—Rev. R. B. Clark will lecture in Middletown, this evening, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, on "The Voice and its Uses." Mr. Clark is well posted on the subject and will, no doubt, give a very interesting as well as instructive lecture.

—Don't forget the entertainment at Music Hall, this evening, for the benefit of the Goshen Institute.

—The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weller died, yesterday, of congestion of the brain, aged about six months. The funeral was held today; interment at Newburgh.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Ella Bertholf Wins Two Suits Against Her Father-in-Law.

The time of Judge Brown's court was taken up yesterday, with the trial of two suits of Ella Bertholf against her father-in-law, Andrew T. Bertholf, of Howells.

The plaintiff is the wife of Mortimer Bertholf. The couple were married three or four years ago, but separated some time ago, the husband going to Nebraska.

The defendant, it is alleged, removed the household goods from the son's house, taking many articles belonging to the defendant, some of them being wedding presents, and the first action was to recover their value, which was placed at between $300 and $400.

The witnesses for plaintiff were J. B. Elston, W. F. Royce and E. W. Van Duzer. The defendant's witnesses were his wife, his daughter, Mrs. C. F. Bennett, and his son Mortimer, the husband of the plaintiff, who came on from Nebraska to testify against her, and who, it is said, made a very bad impression on the stand by his display of feeling against his wife.

The jury was out but a short time when a verdict for $275 in favor of the plaintiff, was rendered.

The second suit was for damages resulting from an assault, alleged to have been committed by Mr. Bertholf, when, on the advice of her lawyer, she went to his house and demanded her goods. She swore that he threw her over a chair so violently that the chair was broken, and she sustained injuries that confined her to her bed. In this suit the plaintiff was also successful, the jury awarding her a verdict of $200.

The plaintiff's maiden name was Ella Halstead. She was employed in a law office in this city for some time, and is highly spoken of by all who know her.

The Newburgh papers say she made a very favorable impression upon all in the court room while giving her testimony.

The lawyers in the case were O'Neill & Royce for the plaintiff, and Daniel Finn and Herbert Gedney for the defendant.

THE GREAT STORMS OF APRIL, 1854

Interesting Minutes from the Records of the Old Brookfield Church.

We are indebted to Mr. C. D. Wood, of Slate Hill, for the following minute of the great storms of April, 1854, made on the records of the Brookfield Old School Baptist Church, at the time the storms occurred:

"Extraordinary observations on the weather, Friday, April 14th, 1854, commenced snowing Saturday, 15th, snow one foot deep; Sunday, 16th, snows yet considerably; Monday, 17th, snows yet hard. The snow is banked up and about twenty inches on a level.

This was the storm that killed so many birds. Ten days later the great Delaware River freshet came, taking off bridges and destroying rafts."

The Evolution

Of medicinal agents is gradually relegating the old time herbs, pills, draughts and vegetable extracts to the rear and bringing into general use the pleasant and effective liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs. The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is a peculiarly attractive department of science, as is expressed by the head of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to their proper action. The positive and negative poles of the brain supply the heart, lungs and stomach with their respective vitality. When the brain becomes hungry or disordered by the ability of digestion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened and the organs receiving the diminished nourishment become weak and inactive.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but the true specific first-end of the cause of the trouble Dr. Andrew Jackson Franklin Miles M. D., LL. B., believes the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the practical discoveries resulting are due to his discovery. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the nature's brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, nervous debility, St Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

CATCHING A TRAIN.

It was my first day on the wheat prairie of North Dakota. I had left Fargo at 5 o'clock in the morning on one of the two daily trains westward and had stopped at Castleton, 20 miles from the "Phœnix City of the Northwest." Thence I had tramped back across the prairie two miles to see the Dalrymple farm, the greatest in the world, 30,000 acres under cultivation. By 9 o'clock in the morning I had seen all there was to be seen in the process of thrashing and so retraced my steps to Castleton.

At the station I was informed that the next means of getting back to Fargo was by a freight train leaving at about 2 o'clock.

There are no art galleries or cathedrals in Castleton. There are a dozen or two stores and a hotel. I entered the hotel with the air of abandon and general superintendence usually ascribed to commercial travelers, sat down in the office and picked up day before yesterday's St. Paul paper. An old man with white whiskers sat in the sun reading the day before that's paper. He was evidently a pioneer, who had so long been away from the more civilized regions that he lagged a little in the history of the world. However, I was glad to see one guest at least in the hotel among the wheatfields.

By way of introducing myself to the old gentleman I cracked a few jokes on the sleepiness of the town and the dinginess of the hotel, but a little later realized that my remarks were all directed, by finding that he was proprietor of the establishment. "Never mind," thought I, "it will be all right if I take dinner here." The old gentleman's face showed an animated interest as he informed me, in response to a question, that dinner would be served at half past 12.

I was now wearied of reading stale news, so went out and took a five minutes' walk to the end of the main street and back. Next I bought a novel and went out upon the prairie and spent a couple of hours reading. Killing time in a Dakota town I found not to be so exciting as the same occupation in Chicago or London. About noon I wandered back to town and got stranded on some California fruit at a store. I filled myself so completely with grapes and peaches that I never once thought of dinner at the hotel. The old landlord must have been grievously disappointed, but I did not see him again.

I talked with the clerk in the store, read some more and missed the Northern Pacific until nearly 2 o'clock. Then I sauntered over to the station, and after waiting a half hour for the train inquired of the station agent as to what time I could get away.

He replied, "Not until the 4 o'clock through freight comes." The 2 o'clock was a way freight and had been delayed, he explained.

I moralized on the inconveniences of travel in a new section of the country and set about using up another two hours. I found that I had somehow got some spots on white grease on my clothes and managed to spend a comparatively pleasant hour scrubbing out the spots with naphtha at the town drug store. Then I read some more.

At 4 o'clock I went over to the station again and finally plucked up courage to ask the rather irritable agent about the train. He deigned to tell me as if tired of seeing me around, that the train wouldn't be along until 5. Now I had a companion in my misery, for a lady, with two little girls, was waiting for the next train to Fargo.

Our common annoyances served to introduce us, and we talked of the harvesting and so on, I deriving some information, as she was a resident of the region. At 5 o'clock the train was not in sight, and the station man positively refused to tell how anything or to have any opinion as to the prospect of our getting away. I offered the lady my book and sat and read a section on the happiness of life in that section, getting up occasionally to look up and down the line to see if the train had yet rounded above the horizon. [illegible] but the two [illegible] were [illegible] annoyed [illegible] and then it was lost to the eye.

Once [illegible] the [illegible] the little girls [illegible] by. She answered [illegible] smoke on [illegible] was so good, [illegible] and [illegible] some [illegible] with great [illegible] We watched [illegible] which [illegible] 4 o'clock [illegible] still a few [illegible] passengers [illegible] was, of course, at the rear end of the train and seemingly a quarter of a mile away.

By this time several men and boys had gathered on the scene, apparently wishing to go to Fargo. No one seemed to want to walk away back to the caboose, and every one was very anxious not to get left. At this moment another freight train, hitherto unnoticed, came booming along on the main track. Things were getting muddled. Would the second train stop? Would the first pull up to the station to accommodate those who wished to get in the caboose?

I interrogated the engineer of train No. 1. "Ask the conductor. I don't know," he yelled. Then he relented and said, "The other train is the one you want." Train No. 2 had rolled along by the station and was now coming to a standstill a hundred yards away.

I found the lady with the little girls. Said I, "We can't take the other train."

Some of the men and boys now started briskly to walk in the direction of the train, which was away beyond on the main line.

"Let me take a satchel," said I chivalrously as I grabbed one of her two enormous traveling bags and started for the train, followed by the lady, the little girls and the remaining men and boys. The train, as I said, was a hundred yards away. We thought of the nine long hours we had waited for that train, and goaded by the fear of a longer stay in Castleton we struck out at a lively pace toward the caboose.

Two-thirds of the distance had been accomplished, and I was striding along with the great piece of luggage hanging against my legs at every step, when the train commenced to move away, slowly now.

"Run!" I shouted. The men ahead of us were already on the run.

The lady began to scamper, holding the 5-year-old by one hand, carrying in the other her satchel and followed by the 11-year-old, who brought up the rear.

We gained, but not fast enough, thought I.

"Let me have the child," I cried, and grabbing up the little one under my arm I began the chase anew, with the big satchel still in one hand and making me go hippity hop by its joltings.

Women were not made to run. Yet the lady was doing well. The train was getting some headway. I dashed along with my awkward burdens and in a few moments reached the steps of the moving caboose, swung the child up into the arms of one of the men who had caught the train, threw my other charge, the strange lady's satchel, upon the platform and jumped aboard.

Glory! I was on my way to Fargo at last. But how about the lady? She was now 20 feet behind and only holding her own.

"Hurry!"

But she was puffing—out of breath—and began to lag behind. The 5-year old on the caboose was dazed. The 11 year old back with her mother on the railroad now took in the situation and set up a howl to scare the strange man, on board an eastern bound train with her little sister and her mother's luggage.

The train was moving even faster. There was but one thing to do. I leaped to the ground, caught the little girl as she was almost thrown to me by a kindly passenger, set her on the ground then ran for the train clutched the huge satchel, planted that on the ties and finally by good sprinting caught up with the caboose and swung myself aboard.

I had done all I could for the poor lady. It was said to settle it behind after waiting all day for the train. She must now take her chance of getting into Fargo [illegible] by [illegible] was freight now [illegible] ing [illegible] Then I reflected as I [illegible] to the end of the caboose and I died at the forlorn trio standing on the track in the midst of their luggage, going over the receding train.

Then came jolt, jolt, jolt! It was down brakes! I clung to the railing to prevent myself from being thrown off. Quickly the train came to a full stop and didn't move for two minutes, during which time the lady and the little girls got aboard, together with a little fat man and two boys, who had also been distanced in the race. Then the train steamed back to the station and waited a half hour.

I wiped the perspiration from my flushed face, inwardly damned the railroad and rode the 20 miles on the outside platform of the caboose. We got to Fargo at a quarter past 7.—Charles Taylor Tatman in Budget.

FEEDING THE BABY.

Much is written at the present day about the care and feeding of infants by people whose only capability for dealing with the subject is a fertile brain, and whose only aim is to appear in print; every mother knows how unsatisfactory and fallacious such advice is when she attempts to follow it. How to feed the baby is the greatest problem met with in the happy state of motherhood, and upon its solution depends the health, the happiness and the life of the child. If the mother is able to nurse her child, the question of feeding is practically settled; if she is not, she should be guided by those who have had successful experience in feeding babies and not allow herself to experiment with different foods. There are scores of artificial foods offered for sale, but the best is none too good for the baby. Eminent authorities who have thoroughly investigated the subject of infant feeding, and scientists who have analyzed infant foods, unite in pronouncing Mellin's Food to be the only perfect substitute for mother milk. It is palatable, nourishing and strengthening; the weakest stomach will retain and digest it, and the puniest child will thrive upon it beyond the mother's fondest expectations.

For convalescents, consumptives, dyspeptics and the aged, Mellin's Food is also of incalculable value. It is a food, not a medicine and the system receives the nourishment it demands for its daily needs. For those severely ill Mellin's Food will sustain the failing strength and promote a speedy recovery when convalescence has been established.

"ADAMANT" WALL PLASTER!
The New, Cheap Substitute for Common Plaster.

It is very hard and very adhesive, it does away with the warping and shrinkage of doors and casings, and the building is not saturated with water, as it necessarily must be when common plaster is used, it costs originally but little more than lime plaster, and in the end its superior qualities make it immeasurably cheaper; it saves waiting several weeks or months for the buildings to dry out; it does not crack or fall off, even in the case of leakage, it is applied easily by any good plasterer; it is the only material with which replastering can be done neatly and to stay.

"The Lamb Gourd."

The Duke of Holstein, in his "Travels In Muscovy and Persia" (1636), gives a full account of a wonderful vegetable growing in the neighborhood of the city of Samara, Russia, and known as the "lamb or sheep gourd." The duke says: "It most resembles a lamb in all its members and on that account is called 'the lamb gourd.' It changes place in growing as far as the vine or stalk will reach, and wherever it turns the grass withers. When it ripens, the stalk withers, and the outward rind is covered with a kind of hair, which the Muscovites use instead of fur. They showed us some of these skins, which were covered with soft wool, not unlike that of a lamb newly weaned."

Scaliger also speaks of the "lamb gourd" in his works. In one chapter he says that the queer vegetable continues to grow as long as grass is plentiful, but that when the grass fails the "poor creeter dyes from lac of nourishment." He also says that the wolf is the only animal that will feed upon it.—St. Louis Republic.

The Old Novel and the New.

"What is the difference between the old novel and the new?" I am asked. Here is a sentence which will just answer the question: In the old fiction they marry in the last chapter and live happily ever afterward; in the new they marry in the first chapter and live unhappily ever afterward.—London Million.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osgood,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kincheloe,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Archer, M. D.,
111 So Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experiences in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

A Philanthropist.

"You want $100 more?" said the promoter of the scheme for laying pipe lines all over the city for the delivery of fresh milk from a central reservoir. "You want $100 this time, do you? What has become of the $50 I gave you only two days ago?"

"That money, sir," replied the incorruptible alderman from the Seventh ward sternly, "was devoted to the sacred cause of charity. It was given, sir, in sums of $2 to 25 needy voters in my ward, who will be found at the polls next Tuesday battling, sir, for the eternal principles of truth and justice!"—Chicago Tribune.

A Difficult Question.

This story is going to end in a mystery.

I know this because, like a true artist, I thought it all out before putting pen to paper.

It was the evening of Arabella's birthday. Alphonso her betrothed, was with her.

They were very, very happy.

Suddenly a bright thought struck Alphonso

That is a way bright thoughts have

But I am quite willing to be slugged by them

Bright thoughts are worth bright dollars.

But to our tale

Quoth Alphonso:

"Darling?"

Quoth Arabella:

"Yes, darling."

"Isn't this your birthday, darling?"

"Yes dearest."

"Well, pet, I propose to give oo a kiss for every year of your age."

"Oh, darling!"

They embrace rapturously.

He kisses her seven times, then chortles:

"These don't count, for you haven't told me your age yet. How old is my darling?"

"Oh, darling!"

"How old is my ickle tootsy wootsy?"

Here began a great struggle in Arabella's mind

She had reached that age when she wished to be thought several years younger.

That is likewise the age when an unwedded maid is most keenly appreciates kisses.

She did not want to tell him her real age.

She wanted all the kisses she could get.

Here gentle reader, is the mystery foretold exclusively in our first line.

Did she claim all the kisses to which she was entitled or not?—Truth.

Mistake of "Wanting the Best."

At a little dinner party given in one of the best hotels the host ordered wine for his five guests. Not caring to pay for too much champagne, he first ordered "white wine."

"What kind?" asked the waiter.

"The best you've got."

"Do you wish to look at the card?"

"No. Just give us the best you've got. About three quarts."

The waiter obeyed, and all agreed that it was very good indeed. Late that night the host called for his bill. He had figured his bill at about $9. It proved to be more than $16.

"What's this?" he asked. "There's some mistake here."

They gave him an itemized bill just to satisfy him. He ran his eye over it until he came to the "white wine" item, and then he gasped.

Three quarts at $4 ..... $12

"That must be good," he remarked.

"Yes, sir. The best we have."

Since then he orders cheap and common wines, such as champagne.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Wanted Him to Talk.

There are some disadvantages which attach themselves to persons who have become famous. Fame, however, often have their ludicrous side.

It is said that at one time Henry Clay was traveling in the west and stopped over night in a little log cabin inhabited by an old man and his wife. After breakfast the next morning the old host, who had been in a flutter of excitement ever since he learned who his distinguished guest was, said he would like to make one slight request before the visitor departed.

"Couldn't you," he said, with evident anxiety, "couldn't you just make my wife an me a little speech before leavin us?"—Youth's Companion.

Found an Exception.

"The law of compensation, my boy," grunted Uncle Allen Sparks, "doesn't run quite according. Now, there's my neighbor Simpkins. He's as lean as a scarecrow, and I weigh over 200 pounds. His health is just as good as mine, he enjoys life fully as well as I do, we're worth about the same amount of money, and it only costs him half as much to buy a suit of clothes as it costs me. And they last him twice as long, I have him!" added Uncle Allen in the case of an injured man.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Just the Man He Wanted.

A burglar who was doing a neat job on a large safe was horrified on looking up to see a man standing quietly beside him. He was about to retire when the gentleman said:

"Go ahead. I am interested in that job."

"What?" asked the astonished burglar.

"Because I have forgotten the combination, and no living person knew it but myself. If you can get that safe open, I'll make it worth your while."—Texas Siftings.

An Insinuation.

Professor Garner, the monkey man, was a guest at Douglas Sladen's "at home," and among the people there assembled was a celebrated London publisher. A gentleman asked the publisher if he had been introduced to Professor Garner, who had caused the monkeys to talk.

"Oh," said the publisher, "I have known Professor Garner for many years."

"Really?" replied the other. "Did he teach you to talk?"—Detroit Free Press.

Too Much So.

Landleigh—That snowstorm you have painted is wonderfully realistic!

Daubleigh—It must be. A tramp got into my studio one day, caught sight of the picture and unconsciously put on my fur overcoat before he went out.—Tit-Bits.

SHOTS HERE AND THERE.

AN "ARGUS" MAN OFF CUTY AIMS AT SEVERAL SUBJECTS.

Microbes in Street Dust—Elmira's Anti-Microbe Crusade for Clean Streets—When the Snow Has Melted.

We have had a great deal of mud, this season, but the melting of the great body of snow now on the ground will make more and nastier mud than we have had as a result of any storm in years. But the snow, though a good deal of a nuisance, is not an unmixed evil. "An April snow is as good as a coat of manure" and "April snow is the poor man's manure" are old adages that differ from many old adages in having a great deal of truth in them. A late snow storm, one that comes after grass and grain have started brings down with it a great deal of ammonia from the air, and the tender shoots seize on and appropriate it and it stimulates them to more vigorous growth. When the white blanket that covers the earth melts, just notice how fresh and green the grass is and you'll understand how much of truth there is in the old sayings I have quoted

One windy day, a week or so ago, when the air was loaded with dust which was being driven by the gale into the eyes, ears, nostrils and mouths of those who were out of doors, Dr. Ford, professor of science in Elmira College, picked up a pinch of dust from the street and examined it with a microscope. He found in that dust sixteen different organisms among them the germs of several diseases, principally them those of pneumonia and tuberculosis. Only two of the bacteria were of the scavenger or healthy kind. Another member of the Academy of Science took a sample of street dust and put it in water which contained food for the germs and in forty-eight hours the water was swarming with microbes, most of them of the noxious varieties.

The publication of the results of these investigations has created no little excitement in Elmira and citizens have engaged a anti-microbe campaign and are insisting that the streets shall be properly cleaned to the end that they may no longer be forced to breathe microbe-laden dust. The panic that is now on will, however, be likely to spend itself in talk. Such scares soon wear themselves out. Dust is always disagreeable and the knowledge that it is laden with the germs of disease, don't improve matters a bit, but dust is usually an incident of windy days at this season, and no matter how clean streets may be swept, a spring gale will find dust and dirt enough somewhere to fill the air with filth. The same scientists, who tell us of the death dealing possibilities of the microbe, tell us that microbes existed long before man came into existence, but so far as any one can judge man has got along fairly well in the struggle for existance, in spite of the relentless warfare waged upon him by the microbes.

THE SNOW STORM.

Country Roads Blocked Worse than at Any Time During the Year.

The storm which began Tuesday night, continued without a single "let up" until 9 o'clock, this morning. Just how much snow fell it is impossible to tell, as it was constantly melting, but it is safe to say that it was the heaviest snow fall of the year.

Farmers who bring their milk to the condensery, all brought shovels in their sleighs and most of them had to use them, something they did not do during the entire winter The snow drifted badly in exposed places and some of the banks were six feet high, and the snow was so wet and heavy that horses could not get through it. As one man remarked, who had shoveled his way through several heavy drifts, "the snow was worse than mud and if I hadn't brought a shovel I never would have got through."

At one time this morning, nineteen teams were stalled on the road to Millbrook and eighteen men were shoveling snow to make a passage through the banks.

The Erie road and all its branches were kept open by running trains at short intervals, the company regarding it as more economical to cut up its trains and run extra engines, with a few cars, than to allow the road to get blocked and then shovel it out and at the same time cause an interruption to travel.

The O. and W., contrary to expectations, experienced no trouble The storm was not as heavy on the road, where the trouble usually occurs, as it was here and all trains have been run about on schedule time.

Sat. C. B. Mackie, well known as Charley the Boy, is coming. Watch for Mackie is funnier in Behind the Door, than he was as Charley the Boy, in Hoyt's A Parlor Car Co.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass:

"Gentlemen—I really cannot say half I want to about what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me, that is, I cannot tell the story strong enough. I was for years troubled with my heart and paralysis of the stomach. My many friends were quite anxious about me. I have been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and
